

Call for Applications: GRE Tutor

McNair Research Scholars Program

The UCLA McNair Research Scholars Program helps first-generation, low-income, and underrepresented students identify and apply to graduate school programs, conduct independent research projects, and prepare for graduate school entrance exams. McNair Graduate Student Mentors lead virtual seminars, conduct virtual workshops, and provide virtual Graduate Record Examination (GRE) tutoring. For more information about the program please visit our website: <https://www.aap.ucla.edu/programs/mcnair-research-scholars/>.

The McNair GRE Tutor offers in-person tutorial and advising services to all UCLA McNair Scholars in one-on-one and small group sessions. S/he works with a team of McNair Graduate Student Mentors and Staff to prepare students to apply to, and succeed in, the top graduate programs across the country. Specifically, the GRE tutor will help students prepare for the verbal, writing, and quantitative portions of the entrance exam.

This appointment is only for six weeks during UCLA's Summer Session A (June 21st, 2022 – July 29th, 2022). Training will be held June 13th-15th.

Job Description:

- Individual virtual tutoring/appointments with 14 McNair Scholars participating in the six-week intensive McNair Summer Research Institute on the verbal, writing, and quantitative sections of the GRE.
- Facilitate small group GRE study sessions of two or three McNair Scholars.
- Complete special projects and coordinate partnerships, as necessary, to enhance student services related to GRE preparation.
- Assist in the continued development of McNair and AAP Graduate Mentoring and Research Programs.

Eligibility Criteria:

- Currently enrolled UCLA graduate student in good academic standing during the time of appointment, with a minimum 3.0 GPA. Must also be making normal progress towards the graduate degree as outlined by Graduate Division and departmental guidelines.
- Demonstrated familiarity with the current Graduate Record Examination format, structure, and material included on the examination.
- Demonstrated cross-cultural sensitivity.
- Excellent interpersonal and communication skills.
- Sincere interest in working with and assisting undergraduate students, particularly those who are interested in a research/academic career or professional school.
- Sincere interest in working with low-income, first-generation college students.
- Able to work 20 hours per week.
- Able to attend weekly staff meetings during Summer Session A.
- Able to attend training prior to the beginning of the McNair Summer Research Institute, Summer Session A.

Compensation:

- Hourly rate: $21.70 for individual tutoring, $26.70 for group tutoring.

Application Process:

Applications are due by 5pm on Friday, April 8th. Applications will still be accepted after the deadline if the position is still available.

A completed application includes:

- 1) Cover letter stating how you meet the criteria and how you would strengthen the UCLA McNair Research Scholars Program. Please be sure to include a discussion of your own experiences with the GRE – including but not limited to your familiarity and comfort with the current GRE, the number of times you have taken the exam, and how you prepared for it.
- 2) An unofficial copy of your most recent graduate transcript
- 3) Copy of your most recent Graduate Record Examination Scores
- 4) Curriculum Vita
- 5) Statement of teaching philosophy

About the UCLA Academic Advancement Program:

The UCLA Academic Advancement Program has a threefold mission: 1) to ensure the academic success and graduation of students who have been historically underrepresented in higher education; 2) inform and prepare AAP students for graduate and professional schools; and 3) to develop the academic, scientific, political, economic, and community leadership necessary to transform society. The successful integration of our three-fold mission strengthens our commitment to access, equity and excellence.
